I. Introduction

This is the official rulebook of the Atlantic Fantasy Football League for the 2007 season. It should be read by all league members. Members should also print out a copy of this rule book for future reference.

The idea behind fantasy football is that you have the opportunity to draft players from the NFL to play on your own team. For this reason, it is called "fantasy" football. You build your dream team and compete against everyone else's. In addition, throughout the season you will have the opportunity to draft, release, and acquire players for your team.

Your team will score points based on the individual performances of you players in their NFL games. The resulting total score of the players on your "starting lineup" will be compared to that of the team you have met in head-to-head matchup. The team with the highest score will win the match and a win-loss record for each team will be kept throughout the season. At the end of the regular season, the teams with the highest records will move on to play in the league playoffs for the championship.

II. Teams and League Makeup

A. Teams and Divisions

The AFFL will be made up of 12 teams making up three divisions. Teams will not change divisions unless it becomes necessary to realign the league due to expansion in the future.

B. Ownership of Teams

1. Ownership of team franchises will be granted by the League Commissioner (the "Commissioner").
2. The franchise will be granted at his discretion based on the application submitted by the prospective team owner.
3. Team owners have the right to return year-to-year without filling out a new application as long as they remain in good standing with the league.

C. Changing of Ownership

1. When a new owner takes over a team previously held by another, the owner is required to rename the team and select a new team logo (except during the middle of a season).
  - a. New teams must choose a team name and logo that is dissimilar from all current and past teams.

2. The new owner will keep the same players that were on the roster of the team held by the previous owner and will take over all administrative powers of the team.

III. League Schedule

A. Regular Season

1. The regular season will be made up of 14 games spanning the first 14 games of the NFL regular season.
2. Each team will play their three divisional rivals twice during the regular season and will play all of the remaining eight teams in the league once.

B. Post-Season

1. The post season will begin in the 15th week of the NFL regular season and will continue through the 17th week.
2. Week 15 will serve as the quarterfinal round, 16 as the semifinals, and 17 as the championship week.

C. Home/Away Games

1. Each team will play 7 home and 7 away games over the course of the season.
2. In division play, one of each of the two meetings with each divisional rival will be a home game and one will be an away game.
3. Home teams will be given a "home field advantage" as defined by Rule VII(A).

IV. The Draft

A. Draft Order

1. Generally
  - a. The order of the league draft will be the reverse of the final standings after the playoffs of the previous season.
    - i. The league champion will pick last, tourney runner-up next to last, final four members ninth and tenth, etc.
    - ii. Those teams who did not earn tournament berths will be arranged in reverse order of league standings applying the tie-breaker for Regular Season league standings as necessary (See Rule IX(B) below).

- b. The draft will follow this order during odd numbered rounds, and will reverse the order during even numbered rounds.

2. 2007 AFFL Draft Order

1.	Tide	(3-10-1)
2.	Raw Dawgs	(4-10)
3.	Mountaineers	(5-9)
4.	Carolina Storm	(QF, 6 th Seed)
5.	Coventry Pro Rattlers	(QF, 5 th Seed)
6.	Virtual Dynasty	(QF, 2 nd Seed)
7.	Hotheads	(QF, 1 st Seed)
8.	Hammer Heads	(SF, 8 th Seed)
9.	TailGators	(SF, 7 th Seed)
10.	Mount Clemens Raiders	(Finalist)
11.	BBQBoys	(Champions)
12.	STEEL CITY BOYS REPLACEMENT

3. Exceptions

The order of the draft will change for the following reasons:

- a. In the event that a team receives a new owner prior to the start of a new season, that team will lose its predetermined draft position and will be moved to the back of the line.
  - i. In the event that there is more than one team with a new owner, the teams will be arranged at the back of the line in order of the previous year's standings.
  - ii. This rule does not apply when a new owner takes over a team mid-season and returns for the next season.
- b. If a team forfeits more than one game during the course of the season for any reason, they will be penalized one position in the draft order of the next season for every game they forfeited.
  - i. If a team is taken over by a new owner after the end of the season in which the forfeits occurred, the penalty will not be applied against the new owner (though the "new owner penalty" as described in Rule 3.a above will still apply).
  - ii. If a team that has forfeited game(s) during the course of a year is taken over by a new owner mid-season, the penalty will not be applied as long as the team does not forfeit another game after the change in ownership.

- iii. If the team does forfeit additional game(s), the new owner will be penalized for all forfeits incurred by the team over the course of the season.
- c. If more than one team is affected by the implementation of this rule, it will first be applied to the one closest to the last pick in the original (pre-determined) draft order and then to each successively higher team.

B. Owner Presence

1. The presence of every owner is required for the draft.
2. The Commissioner WILL NOT draft for owners who do not attend the league draft.
3. All owners will be expected and required to work with the Commissioner to determine a time where every owner can be present for the draft.
4. If an owner does not attend the draft, they will not have any players drafted for them and will have to wait until the beginning of the regular season to pick up free agents or make trades to fill out their roster.
  - a. In that situation, normal transaction rules will apply (See Rule VI. Transactions, below)
5. Failure to attend the draft is also an offense that may lead to an owner's expulsion from the league.

C. Time, Date, and Place

The draft will be conducted over the Internet in real-time using AOL Instant Messenger. The date and time of the draft will be announced at a date closer to draft time to all owners.

D. Conducting the Draft

1. The draft will begin promptly at the time specified by the Commissioner. Not five minutes later, not 10 minutes later.
  - a. All team owners must be online and have logged on to AOL Instant Messenger on time or risk losing draft picks.
  - b. The Commissioner will be present in the AOL I/M chat room somewhere around 30 minutes before the beginning of the draft to answer any last minute questions. When an owner logs-on, the Commissioner will invite them into the AOL I/M chat room.
2. Once the draft begins, there will be no talking by the owners.
  - a. Talking during the draft causes confusion and clutters the chat text area. Therefore, no talking, unless there is an emergency.

- b. Please also avoid sending private instant messages to the Commissioner, as he will not have time to respond.
    - c. If a team owner continually interrupts the draft, the owner will be subject to the loss of draft picks.
  3. The Commissioner will call on each team on their turn to draft.
    - a. Once called, the team will have 60 seconds to make their selection.
    - b. Timing will begin as soon as the Commissioner announces a team's name.
    - c. If the time limit is abused, the Commissioner will begin to enforce it strictly.
  4. Owners are expected to pay attention during the entire draft, keeping up with who is already picked and being prepared to make picks quickly on their next turn.
    - a. If an owner attempts to draft a player who has already been selected, the commissioner will provide a warning and the owner will then have 30 seconds to make another selection.
    - b. If the owner makes another "double-pick" anytime during the rest of the draft, he will lose the draft pick in question.
  5. If an owner does not make a pick within the time limit or otherwise forfeits or losses a pick, they will be skipped and will not have another opportunity to make up for the lost pick during the course of the draft.
    - a. The team will have to fill the empty position on their roster either through free agent acquisitions or trades with other teams at the beginning of the regular season. Normal transaction rules will apply. (See Rule VI. Transactions, below)
  6. When making your pick be try to give all of the following information: Player Code Number, Player Name, Position, NFL Team. At minimum, please provide the code number and full player name.

V. Rosters

A. Number of Players

1. A complete team roster is made up of 17 players.
2. The only minimum requirements of a roster is the ability to fulfill the starting lineup requirements (see below). Therefore, a team can have as many as 17 players, but as few as 9.

B. Starting Lineups

Starting lineups consist of 9 players.

All teams must submit a lineup that follows this makeup: 1 Quarterback (QB), 2 Runningbacks (RB), 1 Place Kicker (K), 1 Defensive Team (DF), and 4 players in any combination of Wide Receivers (WR) and Tight Ends (TE) as long as there is at least one of each in the lineup.

1. Starting Lineup Deadlines

- a. In order for a team to start a player, that team must submit a valid lineup containing that player no later than 10 minutes before the start of that player's game.
  - i. No player contained within a lineup submitted earlier in the week may be taken out of the lineup later than 10 minutes before the start of that player's game.
- b. The deadline for players who are on bye will be 10 minutes before the first Sunday game of the week even if there are games scheduled for earlier in the week.
- c. Lineups for the upcoming week's game may not be submitted prior to two hours after the conclusion of the last NFL game of the week.
  - i. Teams are encouraged to submit a starting lineup early.
  - ii. If a team waits to submit a lineup at a time when the team does not have enough players on their roster still eligible to be placed in the starting lineup under Rules 1.a and b above, that team will not be allowed to submit a starting lineup for the week. No exceptions will be made.

2. Starting Lineup Submission Failures and Errors

- a. Each team will be expected to submit a starting lineup every week.
- b. If you fail to submit a starting lineup, you will be charged with a failure to submit a lineup and the previous week's lineup will be used.
- c. Upon the second consecutive failure to submit a lineup, a team will forfeit that week's game.
- d. If a transaction (add, waive, trade, or moving a player to Injury Reserve) during the course of a week results in a team's lineup failing to meet lineup requirements, an owner must submit a new lineup prior to the week's lineup deadline in order to avoid forfeiting the week's game.

- e. If a team submits a starting lineup that leaves out a player or has any other error inconsistent with starting lineup requirements, the lineup will be voided.
  - i. The team will use the lineup from the previous week, and the team will be charged with a failure to submit a lineup.
  - ii. If the previous week's lineup is no longer valid (e.g., roster moves made so as to make the starting lineup incomplete), the team submits an erroneous lineup, and fails to submit a corrected lineup before the deadline for the week, the team will forfeit its game for the week.
  - iii. In addition, they will also be charged with a failure to submit a valid lineup.
- f. The Commissioner is not obligated to inform an owner that an incorrect lineup has been submitted.
- g. Starting lineups should be submitted using the forms provided on the league website.
  - i. They will only be accepted by email in an exceptional circumstance (i.e., web server down).

C. Multi-Position Players

- 1. When a team drafts a player who plays multiple positions, they must declare what position that player will fill.
- 2. After which, that player will remain associated with that position for the remainder of the season even if acquired by another team.

D. Player Retirement

- 1. Any player who goes into retirement and is declared retired by the Commissioner, may not be drafted or acquired through any other means by an AFFL team.
- 2. If a retired player is currently being held by a team, it may keep the player, but can not place him on injury reserve.
- 3. If the team drops the player at any time, it may not re-acquire that player, nor may any other team.

E. Injury Reserve

1. Generally
  - a. Each team will have two injury reserve positions on their rosters.
  - b. These positions can be filled by players who have been declared as I/R, P-U-P, or Out by the official NFL Injury Report (<http://www.nfl.com/injuries>) or the CBS Sportsline Injury List (<http://www.sportsline.com/nfl/injuries>).
  - c. To move a player to Injury Reserve, the owner may either notify the Commissioner via email or use the “Add/Waive Form” located by clicking on the “Add/Waive Form” link on the individual team’s main Administration page on the league website to submit the transaction request.
  - d. Once a player is on Injury Reserve, the team may acquire a free agent to fill his position on the main roster (in accordance with acquisition rules).
    - i. A team may concurrently request a player to be moved to Injury Reserve and submit an add request by using the team’s “Add/Waive Form”
  - e. A team can not place a player directly onto Injury Reserve during an acquisition either by receiving the player in trade or from free agency.
    - i. All new additions to a team must be placed onto a team's main roster when acquired.
    - ii. A player can then be moved onto Injury Reserve during the following week if he otherwise qualifies.
2. Removal of Player from Injury Reserve
  - a. A team may move a player off injury reserve at any time; even if the player is otherwise eligible to remain on Injury Reserve.
    - i. If a team moves a player off Injury Reserve prior to the transaction deadline(s) for a given week, it may trade that player or use him in a drop/add transaction during the current week.
  - b. A player may remain on Injury Reserve until such time as they are no longer eligible as defined by Rule 1.b above.
    - i. At that time, the team must either cut the player, or move him back on to the main roster.

- ii. If the main roster is already at its limit of 17 players, a player on the roster must be cut to make room for the player coming off Injury Reserve.
- c. If the Commissioner determines that a team has an ineligible player on Injury Reserve he will email the owner asking him to remove the player from Injury Reserve.
  - i. Once notified, the owner will have until the start of the first Sunday NFL game to move the ineligible player from Injury Reserve.
  - ii. If the owner fails to do so, the team will be penalized by having subtracted from their weekly point total the points of their highest scoring player for the week or 40 points, whichever is greater.
  - iii. If the Commissioner's notification email to the owner with an ineligible player on Injury Reserve is sent with less than 24 hours before the start of the first Sunday NFL game of the week, there will be no penalty for a failure to remove the ineligible player from Injury Reserve.
    - (α) In the playoffs, if a team has an ineligible player on Injury Reserve, was notified of the violation by the Commissioner less than 24 hours before the start of the first Sunday NFL game of the week, and the owner fails to remove the ineligible player from Injury Reserve, then if their game for the week ends in a tie, 25 points will be deducted from the team's aggregate roster score when the individual game tie-breaker is applied (See Rule IX(2) below).
  - iv. If the owner fails to remove the ineligible player from Injury Reserve in the following week, the owner's team will forfeit all games until the player is removed from Injury Reserve.
- d. Other team owners are encouraged to review the rosters of their weekly opponents and notify the Commissioner if they believe their opponent's team has an ineligible player on Injury Reserve.

F. Retaining Players from Season-to-Season

- 1. Keepers
  - a. The AFFL is a keeper league, meaning that teams keep players from season to season.

- i. Teams will be asked by the Commissioner during the off-season to choose four (4) players to keep for the next season.
    - ii. This will be done after teams without owners are found new owners, but prior to the league draft.
    - iii. As discussed above, teams will be allowed to trade retained players for draft picks.
  2. Removing Players from Injury Reserve Before Selecting Keepers
    - a. If a team has any players on their roster on Injury Reserve at season's end, the owner must remove those players from Reserve prior to being allowed to submit their keeper selections.
      - i. In order to remove a player from Reserve, the owner can either drop the player from their roster entirely, or the owner can drop another player from their roster so that the player on Reserve can be moved back onto the main roster.
  3. Alternate Keepers
    - a. In addition to selecting four players to retain for the next season, each team will be allowed to select one additional player from their previous season's roster to serve as an "alternate" to their four keepers.
      - i. Should one of the four players they select for retention retires sometime between the deadline of submitting which players are to be kept for the next season and 48 hours prior to the league draft, the owner can select the "alternate" to take his place.
      - ii. If a team receives a keeper in a trade and that player retires before the league draft, the team may replace the player with their alternate keeper.
      - iii. However, owners can not simply switch players between the original four picks and the alternate pick.
        - (α) One of the four main selections must actually retire before an owner can use the alternate.
    - b. If an owner does not have to use the alternate, the player will be released from their team 48 hours prior to the league draft, and will return to the pool of free agents (draftable players) just like all the other players not selected as keepers.
    - c. An alternate keeper can not be traded in pre-draft trading.

4. Failure to Submit Keepers Selections
  - a. If an owner fails to submit a list of keeper players by the deadline set by the Commissioner, all the players on that team will be dropped.
    - i. The team will still, however, only receive the same number of draft picks as every other, and will be forced to acquire the remaining needed players through free-agent acquisition after the draft.
    - ii. If a team owner is replaced subsequent to failing to submit keeper selections, the new owner may, at the discretion of the Commissioner, be allowed to choose keepers if:
      - (α) No more than two (2) weeks have elapsed since the keeper selection deadline when the new owner joins the league;
      - (β) The new owner makes their keeper selections within 96 hours after being provided the opportunity to do so by the Commissioner; and,
      - (χ) The new owner makes their keeper selections no later than 5pm ET on the seventh day prior to the league draft.

VI. Transactions

A. Trades

1. Trading will be allowed between teams as soon as all teams declare their keepers for the following year.
  - a. Exception: Trading will not be allowed during the period between the end of pre-draft trading and the beginning of the first week of the regular season.
  - b. Trades made during the pre-season will be processed upon their completion and will not be held until a "deadline" as done during the regular season.
2. Once you trade away a player, you may not reacquire that player through any means for at least two weeks.
  - a. For example: If you trade away a player in week 1, you will not be allowed to bring that player back on your roster until at least week 3.

- b. A week is defined as beginning on the day following the previous week's last game and ending after the conclusion of the current week's last game.
3. You may not trade a player you have placed on AFFL Injury Reserve.
  - a. You may, however, remove the player from Injury Reserve and then trade him away; meaning, you may be required to drop a player from your main roster before completing the trade.
4. There are no limits to the number of trades you may make in a week.
5. A player received in a trade may be traded to another team in the same week. Such a scenario will be regarded as a multiple team trade.
6. A player received in a trade may not be waived the same week the trade is completed.
7. To make a trade, all of the owners involved in a trade must email the Commissioner prior to the deadline (see Rule E. Deadlines, below) advising him of the proposed trade.
  - a. An email from only one owner will not be accepted.
8. Once both teams submit their proposals, a trade agreement can not be rescinded.
9. If one owner sends a confirmation message to the Commissioner prior to the deadline, and the other sends one after the deadline, the trade will not be processed the following week.
  - a. If the owners want the trade to be processed the following week, each owner must again send a confirmation email to the Commissioner.
10. Uneven trades are allowed except when the trade will cause a violation of roster and/or starting lineup requirements.
11. If a team trades away more players than they receive in a deal, the team may submit an add/waive request(s) to fill the vacancy on their roster created by the deal during the same transaction period (in absence of other roster moves and transaction rules that might make such a move impossible). All other transaction rules apply as normal.
12. Any trade which causes a team to violate starting lineup requirements in the absence of other roster moves will be rejected.
13. To trade draft picks, the owners must declare which round(s)'s draft picks are involved in the trade.
  - a. Trading for undetermined draft picks will not be allowed.
14. No trades will be allowed after the conclusion of Week 12.
15. The Commissioner may reject a trade deal at any time and for any reason.

B. Pre-Draft Trading

1. Generally
  - a. Pre-Draft Trading will be allowed ONLY after all the teams have declared which players they will keep for the next season.
  - b. Trading prior to the draft may be uneven.
  - c. However, no extra rounds will be added to the draft to enable teams to pick up extra players.
  - d. Teams who have fewer than 17 players after the draft as a result of uneven pre-draft trading must wait until the first transaction period begins to complete their rosters.
2. Trading of Current Draft Picks
  - a. There are no restrictions to how many and which picks a team may use in a trade deal involving draft picks for the 2005 season.
  - b. Teams who make trades that give them more draft picks than necessary to fill their roster during the draft can, of course, use those extra draft picks to make other uneven trades.
  - c. However, if they keep the extra draft picks, they will only be allowed to draft until they have completed a roster of 17 players, but if they should, for any reason, be skipped in a round of the draft, they can use one of those extra draft picks to compensate.
3. Pre-Draft Trading Deadline
  - a. Trades made during the pre-draft trading period must be given to the Commissioner by 5pm on the seventh day prior to the league draft. Trades after this date will not be accepted.

C. Trading of Future Draft Picks

1. A team may trade picks from the 2008 draft.
  - a. Teams may make trades involving 2008 draft picks in both the 2007 season's pre-season and regular season periods.
2. No team may trade away more than a total of four picks from their pool of draft choices for the 2008 draft.
  - a. Alternatively, no team, as a result of trading 2008 draft picks, may have fewer than nine remaining picks for the 2008 draft (meaning you can remain within the limit of four tradable picks if you receive other team's 2008 draft picks as a result of a trade).
3. No team may trade away more than two of their first four rounds of picks for the 2008 draft.

- a. Unlike Rules 2-2.a above, you may not get around this restriction by receiving other team's 2008 draft picks from the first four or other rounds.
4. If you receive future draft picks from another team as a result of a trade, you may use those picks to make additional trades assuming you remain within the terms of the Rules VI (A), (B), and (C).
5. If a league owner does not return to the league next season, the replacement owner is bound to the terms of any trade made during the previous season involving future draft picks as if he had made the trade deal himself.
6. Trades involving "future" draft picks can only utilize picks from the 2008 season.

D. Acquisitions/Waivers

1. Generally
  - a. Acquisition and/or Waiver requests can be made from first week of the regular season throughout the entire fantasy season (including the tournament).
  - b. Acquisition/waiver requests may not be submitted prior to 2 hours after the NFL's final game for the prior week.
    - i. Requests sent after a week's deadline (as outlined in Rule E. Deadlines, below) will not be held for the next week's processing.
    - ii. Requests sent before the allowed time will not be accepted and will be discarded.
    - iii. Because it is the owner's responsibility to be aware of the league's rules, the Commissioner is not obligated to inform the owner of these violations.
  - c. Once you waive a player, you may not reacquire that player through any means for at least two weeks
    - i. For example: If you trade away a player in week 1, you will not be allowed to bring that player back on your roster until at least week 3.
    - ii. A week is defined as beginning on the day following the previous week's last game and ending after the conclusion of the current week's last game.
  - d. Acquisition and/or waiver requests will only be accepted using the forms provided on the league website.
    - i. At no time will they be accepted by an email from the owner.

- e. There is no limit to the number of acquisition and/or waiver requests you may make in a week.
  - f. Once an acquisition and/or waiver request is made it can not be rescinded or replaced by another request (be sure to make wise decisions the first time).
  - g. Once a team's season is over they may no longer make acquisition or waiver requests.
2. The Waiver Wire
- Acquisition and waiver requests will be processed in the following manner:
- a. The Commissioner will hold all requests for acquisitions and waivers until the respective week's deadline.
  - b. The commissioner will process a maximum of one request per team in reverse order of league standings at a time (in case of a tie in records, overall points will be used as a tie-break). After the commissioner goes through the entire order, he will begin a second round of processing, again in reverse order of league standings). This process will continue until all requests have been exhausted.
  - c. If a team makes multiple requests, the commissioner will line up a team's requests in the order in which they were received and will process the earliest received requests first.
  - d. The order of processing transactions during the pre-season will be exactly the same as during the draft.

E. Deadlines

1. For weeks where the NFL has scheduled games for Sundays and Mondays only, the deadline for submitting trade proposals and acquisition/waiver requests is 6pm ET on the Friday preceding the week's games.

2. During the playoffs
  - a. In the event of a tie, the tie will be broken by using the aggregate score of each team's non-starting portion of their respective rosters.
    - i. If this should fail to break the tie, the home team will be given the victory.
    - ii. The winner of the tie-breaker will be awarded one point to their final score to signify the victory.

B. Regular Season League Standings

C. To Break a Tie Within a Division

1. The divisional title is awarded to the team in each division with the best overall league record.

X. Powers of the League Commissioner

A. The Commissioner

The Commissioner is responsible for both managing the league and the league's website. This takes a great deal of time to accomplish, and due to the short time frame between games, pressure is added by the need to stick to deadlines. For this reason, please be patient when you submit starting lineups, waiver, trade, and acquisition requests, or ask questions via email.

B. Owner Participation

1. Owner participation is necessary in order for the season to be successful.
2. Owners will be expected to participate actively in the league.
3. You must submit starting lineups for your team even if you do not plan to change the lineup.
4. If the Commissioner hears nothing from an owner for three consecutive weeks without prior explanation, he has the right expel the owner from the league.

C. Unsportsmanlike Conduct

1. If during the course of the season, pre-season, or post-season an owner conducts himself in a way judged by the Commissioner as unsportsmanlike, the Commissioner has the right to sanction that owner and/or his team.
2. Unsportsmanlike conduct may also include specific violations of the league rules.
3. The Commissioner alone determines what actions are "unsportsmanlike,"
4. Sanctions for unsportsmanlike conduct include, but are not limited, to the following:
  - a. Deductions from overall and divisional points totals
  - b. Loss of trading privileges for a specified or indeterminate period
  - c. Loss of waiver wire privileges for a specified or indeterminate period
  - d. Loss of position in the waiver wire order
  - e. Forced waiving of players
  - f. Retrospective rejection of trades, with the possibility of forfeits declared for any affected games
  - g. Loss of future draft picks

- h. Owner suspension, with their team forfeiting games for the length of the suspension
    - i. Any combination of sanctions deemed appropriate by the Commissioner.
5. A team owner who is penalized because of unsportsmanlike conduct may appeal to the other owners for a reprieve of any punishment handed down other than expulsion from the league/termination of team ownership.
  - a. In order for the appeal to be successful, seven owners excluding the offending owner(s) must independently email the Commissioner within 72 hours that the cited owner should be granted a reprieve of the Commissioner's decision, otherwise the penalty will stand.
6. If an owner is cited more than once for unsportsmanlike conduct during the course of the season, no appeals will be allowed.

D. Termination of Team Ownership

In the event that a team owner intentionally breaks the rules set forth in this document, or plays the game in a spirit inconsistent in the manner in which the league was founded, the Commissioner has the right to terminate ownership of a team. No appeals allowed.

E. Appeals for Scoring Errors

1. It is the responsibility of team owners to review their team's scores each week for errors. This is especially true during the first week or two of the season when there may be bugs in the league's scoring system.
2. All appeals for reviewing possible errors made in scoring must be submitted to the Commissioner within 72 hours of that particular week's results being posted on the web.
  - a. No appeals will be accepted after that time, nor will any change be made to any team's score that resulted from such an error.
3. The Commissioner retains the right to initiate appeals for and reviews of potential scoring errors without an owner submitting an appeal of their score.
  - a. Furthermore, if the Commissioner finds a scoring error occurred in one game, he may initiate reviews of all scores for the week.
  - b. As above, all reviews must be initiated within 72 hours after the final results for the week are posted.

F. Rule Re-Evaluation

1. From time to time, a situation may arise in which the rules, as written, may lend themselves to harming the position of a team in a way for which they were not meant to do when written.
2. If such a situation arises, the Commissioner has the right to re-evaluate the league rules to determine whether the situation at hand is such that the intent of the rules when they were written can not be upheld because the literal interpretation would lend itself to the contrary.
3. If so, the Commissioner may forego the rules as written and apply the rule's intent.
4. If the Commissioner comes to such a decision, he must inform the other league owners by email; explaining the situation, the decision to forego the rule in question, and the reasoning for making such a decision.
5. League owners who believe that the situation in question does not warrant a reevaluation of the league rules must inform the Commissioner within 24 hours.
  - a. If three (3) league owners independently send a message to the Commissioner stating that they do not believe the rule should be forgone, the Commissioner's decision will be overruled.
    - i. If not, the Commissioner's decision will be final.

G. Rulebook Gaps

1. In the event that a situation should arise in which no effective solution can be found due to ambiguities in the league rules, the Commissioner has the right to use his own discretion to resolve the issue.
2. That decision must then be followed consistently for any situation of significant similarity for the remainder of the season.
